A society has been formed at Montgomery, Ala., with Colonel Francis G. Caffey as chairman, that deserves the cordial commendation and support of all sections of the country. It proposes to hold annual conferences to discuss the race problems of the south, such as the franchise, the education of the negro, religious work and social order and equality. The society has no theories; its directors are divided in opinion upon most of the problems; it invites the fullest and freest discussion in order to get at the truth. I am glad to know that my life-long contention, that the southern people are best fitted by knowledge and experience to deal with their own difficulties, is now conceded. Northern interference, even with the best motives, can accomplish nothing, because of ignorance of the real conditions. The south must work out its own salvation, and I believe that its people are intelligent and con-scientious enough to do it grandly.

Carolina Educator.

"GREAT STRUGGLE YET TO COME."

Sub-Committee of National Industrial Committee Hear Two Witnesse at Charlotte.

Two prominent witnesses appeared before the sub-committee of the National Industrial commission at Charlotte, N. C., and gave interesting testimony. State Labor Commissioner Lacy testified regarding labor conditions in the state, while Dr. George T. Winston, president of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic arts, and one of the foremost educators of the south, gave interesting facts concerning the race problem in the south, saying the real race struggle is yet to Commissioner Lacy testified that there were about 33,757 employes in the 215 cotton mills in North Carolina, divided as follows: Fourteen thousand six hundred and thirty-eight men; 15,-811 women; 1,679 girls and 1,629 boys.

His opinion was that 17 or 18 per cent of the adults could not read, and about 30 per cent of the children are illiterate. As to wages, the labor commissioner stated that skilled men were paid from $1 to $2.50, unskilled 60 cents to $1; skilled women 75 cents to $1.50, unskilled 30 cents to 75 cents; children averaged about 30 cents per day.

Questioned regarding the subject of compulsory arbitration between employes, the commissioner said that this was impracticable, because it would be impossible to force an employe to work against his will on account of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution, and therefore such a law could not bind the parties involved. Mr. Lacy said he favored compulsory education.

President Winston informed the committee that the greatest need of the south was (1) a universal educa-tion, compulsory if necessary; (2) industrial education in the public schools and continued in technical colleges. He considers education a national as well as a state duty, and favors a na-tional university at Washington.

In regard to the Negro Dr. Winston said that the real race conflict in the south is not political nor social, but industrial.

The most pitiful and in some places the most cruel chapter in American history was the attempt to set up the emancipated negro slave as the political antagonist of his Anglo-Saxon master. This attempt had almost entirely alienated the two races in the south The greatest blessing that could fall to the negro's lot now would be the restoration of the old-time kindly relations with the white people. These relations can be restored by the comolete elimination of the southern politics.

"The real race struggle," said Dr. Winston, "has not begun yet. It will come with bitter intensity when the southern white laborer is arrayed against the southern negro laborer in a struggle for employment; when the white mill operatives who strike for higher wages are replaced by negroes. We shall then see in the south what recently occurred in Pana, Ill., but with more intensity. Unless the negro speedily abandons his political and social equality dreams and devotes himself to industrial training and manual labor, his fate is sealed. There is now a place for him in southern industrial life, and unless he fills that place speedily, there will be no place for him, except as the veriest drudge."

Dr. Winston said Booker T. Washington shows a fine appreciation of the real needs of the negro in the south. Such schools as his should be established in every part of the south, and should be aided by the national government.

As to political rights, President Winston said the negro will be treated in the south for many years pretty much as the Chinaman is treated in California; the Indian in the northwest; the Hawaiian in Hawaii; the Filipinos in the Philippines; the Porto Ricans in Porto Rico; the Alaskans in Alaska, and other citizens of less fashionable color in various sections of our possessions.

THE RACE PROBLEM TRUCE IN KENTUCKY

As Set Forth By Prominent North Taylor Remains In Power While Beckham Acts Governor.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS SINE DIE

Temporary Peace Patched Up at Conference Between Adjutant Generals Collier and Castleman.

The legislature of Kentucky adjourned sine die at Frankfort Tuesday afternoon. A conference between Adjutant Generals Collier and Castleman resulted in a perfect understanding being reached. Governor Taylor will continue to act as governor. Governor Beckham will make no move toward securing possession of the state buildings until after the court of appeals has decided the disputed governorship.

The legislature appropriated $100,-000 for the use of Governor Beckham in reorganizing the state militia. This in brief was the situation in Kentucky politics Tuesday night. Among the more conservative element in each party the opinion prevails that the worst is over and that when the court of appeals renders its decision the dangers of civil war in the commonwealth which has been terribly imminent will entirely have passed

To the Democratic leaders, with a full understanding of the situation, only one cloud appears on the political horizon—that is Governor Taylor's future course.

Governor Taylor himself will not outline his plan of action beyond the statement which he made to an Associated Press correspondent Tuesday that he would "continue to act as governor." Republicans in Governor Taylor's confidence, however, say that he will remain in Frankfort in the discharge of his duties until the court last of resort passes upon the question at issue. Then if the decision be against him he will step out at once and turn over the state buildings to Governor Beckham.

The Republicans will make every effort to carry the dispute into the federal courts in case the decision of the court of appeals, the supreme court of Kentucky, is against them, but failing in this, they will consider the question settled.

The Democratic leaders assert that they will cheerfully abide by the decision of the court of appeals.

The legislature adjourned late in the day after one of the most remarkable sessions in the history of the state. In spite of the fact that there was the usual disorder attendant on the closing day of the session, especially in the house, considerable important legislation was accomplished, including the passage of the Senator Triplett resolution appropriating $100,000 to enable Governor Beckham to "reornd the organization recover the munitions of war of the

The debate on the bill in the house naturally took on a strong partisan inge, but it finally went through amid wild cheering by a vote of 53 to 13, most of the Republicans refusing to

The bill is regarded as a "war fund" by the Democrats. A bill appropri-ating $5,000 for the Covington library, the only bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Goebel, was also passed.

In the senate the bitter feeling existing between the Goebel and anti-Goebel Democrats was shown when Senator Carter, president of the sen-ate, announced that he would certify to the absence from most of the sessions since January 80th, the date of Goebel's assassination, of four anti-Goebel Democrats, thus preventing them from drawing their per diem during that time.

The evening trains from Frankfort were crowded with legislators returning to their homes, and the city is practically deserted by politicians, and, beyond a few soldiers in the capitol square, little remains to show how near Kentucky has been to civil war.

APPROPRIATION APPROVED. Tuesday night Governor Beckham approved the Triplett $100,000 appropriation resolution.

"The courage of the British soldiers is beyond question. They rushed the manner, but were not a match for the A GREAT TRUCK GARDEN.

Mexico May Supply Us with Our Early Vegetables.

From recent developments it is apparent that the Southern States will not possess the monopoly of supplying northern cities with garden products, says the Philadelphia Record. The science of refrigeration and the construction of refrigerator ships and refrigerator cars has reached such a high state that it is now possible to raise fruit, it might be said, in almost any part of the world, and carry it to any other part. The fact has been for years demonstrated by the shipment of carcasses from Australia to England by the shipload, where an enormous trade has been built up. The same principle can be applied to the transportation of fruits. A very large proportion of the product of California is now shipped eastward in refrigerator cars, and some of the finest fruits on display in the East come from that State in this way. The agriculturists in the South have recently had their attention directed to the advisability of diversifying crops by the high price paid for garden products. The market garden has of late years become a very important factor in southern agricultural economy

Enterprising capitalists, since the development of Mexico by railroads have been looking at the possibilities of climate there, and have taken steps in some cases to establish plantations for the growth of fruits on a large scale, which it is their intention to ship by refrigerator processes to United States ports and then to inland points. The schemes read well, and apparently are well based. There appears to be no reason why garden truck could not be saised in Mexico and delivered safely and profitably to a great many cities and towns throughout the United States. A great many products there are four to eight weeks ahead of the South. Dairy farming has become very profitable. Milk in large cities sells at 25 cents in Mexico; butter at 36 to 48 cents a pound. Labor costs only from 12 to 25 cents a day. Sugar cane turned into brown sugar yields from $70 to $95 an acre gross. Green barley and corn are raised in large quantities

Cattle raising since the Spanish war has been greatly stimulated, and the western cattlemen are now there laying the foundations for big ranches. Wheat is cultivated on the high tablelands of Central Mexico, but it is not as good as that grown in the States. Such products as coffee, vanilla, rubber, cocoanut and cocoa are all raised in certain sections and raised profita-

The reign of Maria Theresa was a period of prosperity for Austria-Hungary, in spite of the Seven Years' War, while the reigns of Elizabeth and Anne in British history were ages of glory in letters, arts and war.

Great Britain has never seen such an age as that of Victoria, and perhaps will not again for centuries.
